Get Involved with the CLM

Now that you' re officially a Member of the CLM, you can take advantage of the many opportunities to get involved and engage with other CLM Members and Fellows.

Attend and Event - the CLM hosts multiple events throughout the year, ranging from local chapter gathering to our Annual Conference. Visit the events tab of our website for a complete calendar of upcoming events.

Join a community/ committee – Committees/Communities cover industry-specific areas such as construction and professional liability, or claims and litigation management-specific topics such as metrics and AFAs. Committee members contribute articles to the CLM's publications, plan educational programs and provide leadership in their areas of focus. To join a committee or community, contact Fran Clark at Fran.Clark@theclm.org.

Write an article - the CLM's four publications, CLM Magazine, Construction Claims, Professional Times and Workers' Compensation (WC) accept submissions from CLM Members. Contact a CLM representative for details.

Share your news - the Member/Fellow News page of the CLM website is a great opportunity to share with our network news of a job change/promotion, opening of a new office or success in a significant case. Selected news items will also appear in print in CLM Magazine. Visit www.theclm.org/news to submit your news item.

Become an instructor - the CLM offers more than 3S prepared educational programs. We provide the content (handouts, outlines and PowerPoints) and CE/ CLE credit. CLM Members can become an approved instructor for these programs by downloading the instructor packet from the Instructor Sign Up page of our website.

Be active locally - the CLM has more than 50 local chapters internationally. Local chapters host educational and networking events and always welcome help in planning these events. Visit the Local Chapter page of our website to find a chapter near you.

Check out our Wiki - visit our wiki page, wiki.theclm.org , to access our continuously updated, state-by-state repository of information regarding claims handling guidelines, insurance fraud information, adjuster licensing, and security breach notification laws.
